THE LONDON "KEY BURGLAR"

"The Key Burglar" (date the London Lancet) says: "The London household of a high class of civilization. It processes, for the sum of one shilling, virtually to guarantee subscribers from les-sing their keys. A tablet, to be affixed to the door, is furnished to each subscriber, and the address of the company engraved on it and a statement that five shillings reward will be given on the key being brought to the office, when it is lost or removed, free of charge, to the owner. It is an ingenious plan enough, but it would also be a ingenious to keep on losing one's keys and getting them conveyed to the bureau by somebody's messenger, who would afterwards divide with us the five shillings.
Among other really practical advantages of this institution, it is grudgingly suggested that in case of sudden death the bureau would prove a most convenient channel of identification.—The Argonaut.

THE LION'S REVOLUTION.

It was observed by Halley that the time of the moon's revolution about the earth has for several thousand years been decreasing, or her velocity increasing.
This phenomenon remained for a considerable time inexplicable. At last Laplace, in 1797, discovered the cause in the varying eccentricities of the earth's orbit, which has been on the decrease since about 12,000 B. C. Since this time the moon has been gradually getting nearer to the earth, and will go on till 33,000 years after Christ, when the eccentricity of the earth's orbit will begin again to increase.—Boston Transcript.

Polygamy Among Indians.

Among the Mountain Kickapoo Indians polygamy is still rife, though the redskins are beginning to abandon it—that is to say, the Indians take no more plural wives. When buffalo were plenty—when men squaws meant more buffalo robes labeled in a given time—polygamy was in high favor among these Indians. Now, however, they find that the more wives they take, the more they are inclined to increase the number.—Chicago Herald.

Chinese Astronomical Chart.

Among the many curious and interesting works of the Far East, the Chinese in Paris, is a Chinese chart of the heavens, made about 600 years B. C. In this chart 1,400 stars are correctly inserted, as corroborated by the observations of modern astronomers.—Boston Budget.

PHOTOTYPIC WORK.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE VARIOUS PROCESSES NOW EMPLOYED.
The Methods of Goupi, in Paris—Quickness of American Processes—The Action of Light on Sensitized Gelatine.
Photography.

The most common forms of reproductive art nowadays are those based on photography, and it may not be generally known that the most extensive concern in the country that is devoted to this kind of work is housed in Brooklyn. The company who controls these works and give employment to a considerable number of operatives, some of whom are to be regarded as artists rather than mechanics, for into the finishing and printing of the plates taste as well as skill must enter.
The history of Goupi, in Paris, and the recent years enjoyed almost a monopoly of photography, and its work has celebrity for strength and clearness. The Goupi process is a secret, but it is certainly a long and tedious one. It takes to prepare a plate, and from the appearance of sundry lines and markings that would not commonly show in a solar print, that it is a process to a considerable number of operatives, some of whom are to be regarded as artists rather than mechanics,
for into the finishing and printing of the
plates taste as well as skill must enter.

THE LADIES OF THE MAREM.

How the Wives of the Shalk Travel.
Passing of the Procession.
When the mandate has gone forth for the ladies to go abroad from the palace, which they always do with a long procession of coaches, mounted heralds are sent half an hour in advance to announce their coming in the streets they are to traverse.
Great commotion immediately ensues.
The very cars, fighting or hunting their native reserves in the middle of the street, scent the alarm and sink into hidden corners; while every shopkeeper hastens to close his booth and retreats from the scene.
Distant and voyagers, take the nearest short cut that may lead them away from these dangerous precincts, and soon the street is entirely deserted.

A rumbling is soon heard in the distance, then a sound of phyloms or mounted guards of the palace, a corps of picked cavalry, are seen approaching. Soon after the chief coach, a rather plain looking white man, followed by the line of the white coaches filled with ladies closely veiled. Mounted coaches protect the last carriage, and another squadron of cavalry brings up the rear. The procession moves at a distance from the coaches sufficient to prevent too close inspection of the fair innates.

Who be the luckless knight who im-pends to be so inconsiderate or unfortunate as to be found in the street when the procession passes. In former times he would have been slain on the spot. There is a case on record in which the procession discovered a man asleep on a rug by the wayside. Without so much as stopping to wake him, they rolled him up in the rug, tossed him into a ditch and buried him alive. The same terrible fate might not perhaps await any one now who should be caught in such a predicament, yet he would at least receive a kicking and thrashing that he would remember to his dying day. Even the sentinels posted in the street or in palace gates must turn face to the wall when the royal cortege passes, and present arms on behalf.

Gen. Gasteiger, an Austrian in the service of the shah, was on one occasion unable to get away as the coaches entered the street. Turning to the wall he waved his hand at his back by way of salute.
Even the shah's coachmen, who are when he heard of the absurd incident, although he shows no disposition to relax the very strict customs relating to his wives. Europeans are not exempt from this strictness, and young foreigners who were detected looking from the roof of his house on the royal ladies as they rode by, was given twenty-four hours to leave the frontier. The shah's coaches afford him no protection, as he had offended against the most rigid laws and prejudices of the realm.—S. W. G. Benjamin in Inter Ocean.

THE Baku and Batoum Oil Pipe.

The Russian government has just granted a concession for a pipe line to connect the Baku oil fields with the Black Sea at Batoum on the Black sea. The concession is for twenty years, with the proviso that the first line shall be completed within three years. The government not only guarantees no interest, but stipulates that the pipe line company shall not, during the term of concession, own or have any interest in either oil wells or oil refineries.
Wherever the line crosses the property of lands no charge for right of way will be made, and everywhere the company will have the same rights and privileges as are granted to railroads. One-third of the profits of the line, in excess of the cost of such such is proved to be impossible. The tariff for the pumping of the oil has been fixed at from ten to eleven copecks a pound, equal to about one-tenth cent a gallon.

Flowers of Jewelry.

A leading jewelry store up Broadway displays some very pretty concepts in jeweled pins. One was a morning gloriin transparent dark enamel with the natural spires of the flower represented by pored diamond work. The bright varied hues of the outer surface are addressed out beautifully by the enamel.
Diamond pansies are also very popular.
Variegated gold work is coming more and more into use in the line of jewelry.
One scar pin shown, an engraving bird with outspread wings, produced a dazzling effect. A decided oddity in the way of rings is a bent shark, having outward curving ends set with diamonds.
One ring of the kind had a bent shark around the ends, which were set with diamonds and were joined together with an enamel and set with diamonds.

The Gleam of the Opal.

The opal has conquered superstition. It has pleased in all the world, and in this holiday season, and yet not a reproach has been cast upon the witchery, whether in ring or in scarf pin. But there are good opals, and though only one in a thousand brings luck to its possessor, behold the opal with a dark red gleam in its smoky depths. 'Tis an imp that lurks there, and he is full of devilry and unselfish. An opal with pale blue crystals, and at the base of the crystals as it ought to have died before it was born. It was always a bad waste of good money.—New York Cor. Baltimore American.

A Bridge Builder's Prophecy.

William C. Kingsley, projector of the Brooklyn bridge, estimated many years ago in the infancy of his enterprise that 24,000,000 persons per annum would respect its maximum capacity, and that this number of people would be using the bridge in 1890. He was only 27,000,000 less, and at the present rate of increase Mr. Kingsley's estimate may be reached in 1890, ten years before the time fixed by him.—Public Opinion.

Death Bed Oracles.

Of five people who, on their dying beds last year, confessed to great crimes, only one told the truth. In the other cases it was shown that the "confessions" could not possibly have had anything to do with the crimes. There are death bed oracles as well as oracles in good health.—Detroit

HARD LIFE AMONG THE TUBS.

How Large Families are Supported by the Use of the Washboard.
Take an East Broadway car, catch a compass into the classic regions of Cherry street and there may be penetrated the very heart of washwomanhood, where tenement is bound to tenement by closely interwoven lines of fluttering wet linen and the atmosphere is as redolent of warm soapuds as the pages of "L'Assommoir." There all races and classes of laundresses live, and the acridness of their lives bears out the claim that there is rarely reason any hard working, self-respecting woman should live in squalor.
That is what one laundress said who had seven little children to support and had been in bed for two months with gastric fever.

"When I'm on my feet," she declared,
"the children want for nothing and I ask favors from nobody. It's been pretty hard with me here on my back for two months now, taken down this morning day and never my mind. But my sister is good and helps me and my biggest girl does all the washing she can and makes a few dollars. There's no reason in the world why a hard-working woman shouldn't live quite decent and respectable on washing. I always did and mean to again when I'm well. There's the children, all like steps, and the 'em and myself. He has been out of work for nearly a year and has just this week got a watchman's place, but when there's a big family like this the woman's got to help.
How many children is there in all?" she said, turning to the eldest daughter, who leaned on the foot of the bed and wiped her wet, red arms on her apron.

The pale, fagged girl went into an abstract calculation on her fingers, reckoning up an endless number of Tocmies and Sues and Marys, winding up with the baby, which made seven.
"Yes, sir, seven, and me and him's nine, and yet lived quite respectable all the year on $10 the week. How did we do it? Well, I never counted the money, but spent it as it came and it always came out even in the end. For one thing, we only pay $3 a month for this flat, because I'm the caretaker of the house and that counts for the rent. Then the children get a big slice of bread and butter at night. The coal is a matter of conscience, it takes a lot of it to heat the iron and often, in bad weather, all the clothes have to be dried in the house. But there's one thing certain, any woman that does honest work can live quite nice and comfortable on washing if she does it right, that's the trouble with the others."

The sister of the sick woman lived not far away and was one of the aristocrats of the profession. She had four rooms and lived there with a young daughter in much comfort. They had a parlor, a set of wash tubs, carpets and a lot of white curtains, with a motto of "God Bless Our Home" over the mantelpiece.
One neat, bright room was kept entirely for a laundry and no cooking or sleeping was done there, she said only took in the very finest washing, the clothes of which were particular that their clothes should have no odors. She took in washing from the big, fashionable flats up town, the clothes being marvels of dainty luxury, many of silk and all covered with lace and embroidery.

"I averaged about $15 or $16 a week," she said, "and I get $3 or $4 a dozen for every stitch I take in, and they are all and covered with trimming and takes extra work. Besides, you've got to be regular trained to know how to do all this fine stuff, and 'em and 'em and 'em could do them all. Me and my

In another column we publish a very entertaining sketch of early California history, in which Judge P. O. Shattuck of this place played a prominent part. It is from the pen of Mr. E. I. Barra of San Francisco, who was present and witnessed the scene in the Vigilante Court, which he so entertainingly describes.

Judge Coffey, in the Superior Court at San Francisco, Tuesday last, rendered a decision on demurrer, which virtually settles the long-contended litigation between J. Mervyn Donahue and his sister, the Baroness von Schroeder, on one side and their mother no the other. The suit was decided in favor of Mrs. Donahue.

The irrepressible George Washington Tyler, recently disabled for unprofessional (?) conduct, attempted to plead before Judge Pressley in Santa Rosa, Monday. He was told to take his seat, but not doing so soon enough to satisfy the dignity of the Court, he was ordered to appear next Monday and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt.

According to the San Francisco "Chronicle" of the 30th ult. some samples of California wines were recently examined in Paris and were highly commended. The "Chronicle" very properly suggests that steps should be taken to insure a good exhibit of our wines in the Paris Exhibition of 1889. We would call the attention of our readers to this and would advise that our wine makers retain and age some of their best wines for this purpose. It will be a thousand pities if California is not represented. Seeing the success of the Australian wines at the recent exhibition in London, it is much to be regretted that we will be so poorly represented at the American Exhibition shortly to be held in that city.

Typhoid, Scarlet and Yellow Fevers, Measles, Diphtheria, Smallpox, Cholera, etc. Darby's Prophylactic Fluid will destroy the infection of all fevers and all contagious and infectious diseases. Will keep the atmosphere of any sick-room pure and wholesome, absorbing and destroying unhealthy effluvia and contagion. Will neutralize any bad smell whatever, not by disguising it, but by destroying it. Use Darby's Prophylactic Fluid in every sick-room.

SWEET SONOMA VALLEY.

A Lovely, Peaceful Home -- Something About Our Famous Wines.

Magnificent Scenery -- Varied Soils and Climate.

Few people realize the wondrous beauties and productiveness of our valley. Corn, grain of all kinds, fruits beyond description, olive oil, olives, in fact everything that nature can produce, excepting hidousness of scenery, is to be found in rich profusion with us, and had Moore known our wines, he would have altered "Ode 48" so as to read: "Tis surely something sweet, I think, Nay, something heavenly sweet, to drink Sonoma wine!"

For undoubtedly our wines are fit to compete with the best wines of the world.

In our valley we have the most varied soils, exposures and climates. We do not claim that we can produce ports and sherries equal to those of Southern California, but we do claim that for Claret, Burgundies and white wines of Sauterne and Rhenish types we have no peer in the United States. With us in many vineyards are to be found the most famous wines of Chateau Lafite, Margaux, La Tour, La Rose, Clos de Vougeot of Chateau Beaulieu, Beaulieu and L'Ermitage; the best wines of the Palatinate, of Yquem, of the Graves; the choicest from the Rhine, Austria, Italy and Hungary, and it is not saying too much to assert that though we cannot equal the highest grades of European wines, yet we are in a fair way to press them very closely. Our Cabernet Sauvignon, the chief wine of the Medoc, has been pronounced by foreign experts to be more deeply colored, fuller in body and richer in bouquet than the best clarets (not Chateau wines) of the Gironde, and what the result of age will be has yet to be proven. Our Franc Pinot resembles most closely the highest classed wines of the Bourgogne and has an aroma and delicacy of flavor that is impossible to describe. Our Semillon (Yquem), though at present not equaling its Sauterne prototype, bids fair some day to closely approach it. Our Rieslings and Gutedels are rendered famous by Messrs. Dressel & Co. and Gundlach & Co., while the Traminer of these leading vintners is a wine fit for the table of a monarch. The famous Carlowitz of Baron Max Gregor has been much lauded both in the Eastern States and European countries, where it is called natural port, and has become the pet of the medical fraternity, but Sonoma Valley Zinfandel has been tried side by side with it before some of the best known London wine merchants, and all pronounce in favor of California versus Hungary. Our wines when properly made and from the best varieties are exhilarating without being intoxicating, are invigorating and generous without being heating or heady, and are the straightest paths toward national sobriety, for it is a well-known fact, that in countries where wine is an article of common consumption drunkenness is at its minimum.

Visitors from the East who have only seen the low, flat lands of Fresno, the broad valleys of Santa Clara and the level stretches of the Sacramento, can form no estimate of the

PERFECT SCENERY

Of our Sonoma vineyards. When the grain is golden and the grass-clad hills dyed a rich brown from the summer heat, yet in this sun-loved land, the verdure of the vines reaching over the valley, climbing the gentle mountain slopes, and yearning to clothe the highest peaks with their bright green foliage, form a picture that will live with the most famous scenery of Europe -- eye! of the world.

When Goldsmith wrote "Sweet Auburn, loveliest village of the plain," he surely in his dreams must have had an inspired vision of "Sweet Sonoma Valley." A valley which is a perfect ideal of peace, health, happiness, prosperity, plenty and rest. Ofttimes when visiting some upland vineyard we have left the valley heavy with refreshing mist, the very trees weeping tears of gladness for their "Nature's sweet restorer," but as our road mounted upwards the air became clearer and fresher, till suddenly we emerged with a burst of glorious sunshine, a halo of golden glory above and below. Apparently a sea of milk-white foam, surging and rolling in wondrous silent turmoil; changing with every breath of wind, leaping wildly against the rugged hill-tops that here and there appear as islands in a vast white ocean, billows of foaming mist breaking against their cliffs and crags; the strange, mysterious surf frothing and seething as if boiling in the "Witches Cauldron" and away in the far distance capes and promontories garbed in vineyard green could be seen contrasting strangely with the snow-white, restless, ever-changing, vaporous sea. And as the sun gains strength a veritable blaze of gold lit up the entire landscape, searching out every nook and cranny in the rocky, mist-bound isles and framing the emerald vineyards in a golden setting -- the opal-tinted sky a fit background to the glorious scene. Then toward night-fall when all is quiet and still, how peaceful and perfect it is to see the sleeping vineyards, the purple hills, the golden grain and the beams of the setting sun cradled in a couch of mist.

To thoroughly appreciate our valley it should not only be seen, when dotted with flowers, when clad in russet brown, but also in the busy vintage time when the luxuriance and perfection of our vines and grapes can be observed. The blushing blossom of the pomegranate is rivaled by the rich crimson berries of the Zabaliskankoi, the flaming Tokay has well earned its name for brightness -- shades of violet and of rose mingled with the purple of Royal Damascus, the sheen of frosted silver acts as a foil to bunches of rich blue-black grapes. The light green of the Shirazouli, Persia's brightest gem, prettily contrasts with the almost ivory whiteness of the Sicilian and the Oseri du Tarn; the deep amber of the Gradiska and the Precoco du Mallurige, and the golden hues of Foster's seedling, the Chassela. D'Or, show up well the huge, black clusters of the Gros Colman. The Chassela de Falloux, the Chili Rose and the Rose de Negrepoint flush rosy red beside the deep brown of the sun-kissed Cannon Hall Muscat. In fact there is no shade or color that cannot be found among our grapes, and a more lovely mosaic could not be imagined than a collection of grapes fresh culled from our vines, with their soft, deep bloom untouched, cluster clinging to cluster, bunch lying upon bunch, crimson nestling beside the purple, and the gold mingling with the green, the rose warming the white and the amber illuminating its more dusky colored sisters; every variety striving to show off the perfections of others; but it is useless for us to say more, excepting that nowhere on this earth can be found a more lovely, peaceful spot than our Sonoma Valley.

WINE AND VINE NOTES.

How long we wonder will it take before the various newspapers understand that Sonoma county is not represented at the recent Viticultural Convention? We in no way wish to detract from the laurels of Alameda, but we are sick of the constant rebelling that "Alameda now makes the best wines in the State." Even "The Wine and Spirit Review" has now got hold of it and it again appears in the "Merchant."

The heaviest damage done by Tuesday morning's frost was in the vineyard of Jacob F. Mayers at Vineyard Station. Nearly every vine on the place turned black and the crop will be a total loss. The G. P. Dey vineyard and also that of F. Duhring, also suffered. We hear of no other serious damage being done, if we except a few vineyards in the upper part of the valley. As we go to press the wind has died out and the weather has turned out very warm. No further damage from frost is apprehended.

The Cloverdale "Reveille" is in error in stating that Mr. Sewell's method of rooting cuttings is either novel or new, as it has been practiced for the past seven years at Glen Ellen, and, if we mistake not, a description of the method was given some years ago in the Cloverdale "Sentinel." A correspondent of the London "Field" some twelve years ago was the first to recommend rooting vine cuttings before planting by placing them butts upward in a trench and then covering them with several inches of sand, keeping the sand moist, exposed to the sun during the day, but covered with straw at night.

The recent frosts were a curiosity in their way, not following the general rule of seeking the lower and supposed-to-be colder spots, but instead migrated this time to the higher, warmer lands, then again the thermometer kept rising and falling in a most remarkable way, while the wind was constantly shifting to every point of the compass. The damage done to some vineyards was considerable while others adjoining escaped injury.

Reports from Los Guilecos Valley say that the frost of last Tuesday morning devastated a number of vineyards up that way. Jas. H. Shaw's vineyard, which is situated on the ridge dividing Sonoma and Los Guilecos, is said to have suffered more than any other in the frost-bitten section.

During the first quarter of 1888 the exports of wine amounted to 1,084,449 gallons, for the same period in 1886 1,363,510 gallons and for the first quarter of the present year 1,984,407 gallons. The increase was probably due to the low freights with the probability of their being raised.

COUNTY CULLINGS.

H. H. Decker, for many years a resident of Petaluma, died in that city last Sunday from a stroke of paralysis.

J. W. Osborn, a Santa Rosa grocer, has been arrested on a charge of arson. It is claimed that he fired his premises on the night of April 21st to obtain the insurance.

Joseph Silveira, aged 85 years, who wandered away from his home in Petaluma, Sunday, was found, Thursday, nine miles from that city, in a half-famished and dazed condition.

Geo. T. Miller has recovered judgement in Judge Pressley's Court at Santa Rosa, against G. C. Rawson of Arica Caliente, in the sum of $321.97 and $50 attorney's fees.

A young man in this city, says the Headburg "Enterprise," ate some wheat in a business house, that came near causing his death. The wheat was found to be poisonous for squirrels and was spread out to dry in a back room, kept locked. The young man followed the proprietor into the room and seeing the wheat thoughtlessly picked some up and ate it. Prompt administering of emetics saved his life.

The traveling public are invited to call at the Union Hotel.

The Occidental Hotel is fast becoming a popular resort.

The traveling public praise the Occidental Hotel, R. D. Moore proprietor.

Kuykendall's Photograph Gallery will be open up to noon only on Sundays.

Weyl's Cash Grocery Store is selling groceries at the very lowest rates. Call and be convinced.

Kuykendall's Photograph Gallery will remain but one week longer in Sonoma.

A well arranged programme has been prepared for Clay Literary Society on next Monday evening.

If your blood is vitiated, cleanse it without delay by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

If you want your picture taken you had better be lively about it, as Kuykendall's Gallery will remove from Sonoma in one week.

The stock and fixtures of the late firm of A. F. Pauli & Co. will be sold at Sheriff's sale next Wednesday.

Your last opportunity to get a fine photograph, as Kuykendall's Gallery will remain in Sonoma for another week only.

The Occidental Hotel, under the management of Mr. R. D. Moore and his estimable wife, is growing in popularity every day.

See advertisement in another column of Jersey and Holstein bulls for sale. This stock can be had at a bargain by calling at the Buena Vista Ranch.

Marshal Vallejo has not been idle this week. He has gathered in several drunks, impounded a number of cows and has done a land office business in tagging dogs.

About 1300 people passed through Sonoma on the cars last Saturday to Glen Ellen, to attend the picnic given by the M. E. Sunday Schools of San Francisco.

The Finance Committee of the Fourth of July Celebration will hold a special meeting at Weyl's Hall this evening at 7 p. m. All members are earnestly requested to be present. By order of the Chairman.

Louis Bazoni of this place was held before Justice Small, Thursday, and convicted of wife-beating. The Judge, instead of imposing a fine, sentenced him to serve thirty days in the County Jail, to which institution he was taken yesterday.

The Executive Committee of the General Fourth of July Committee held a meeting at the City Pavilion last Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Every member was present and much interest was manifested in the forthcoming celebration, which will be gotten up on a grand scale.

The weather the past week has been the most disagreeable ever experienced in Sonoma Valley in the month of May. Old Boreas, the rascal, completely reversed the order of things, and the traditional month of May so far instead of being merry, has been nasty and disagreeable.

The Agua Caliente Springs have become one of the most popular resorts on this coast. The property has been much improved during the past year and the swimming baths are being greatly enlarged and will be open for the accommodation of the public after the 15th inst. The hotel is already beginning to fill up with guests and there is every prospect of a very busy season.

Henry Castignesi has sued Herman Laux for malicious prosecution in the Superior Court at Santa Rosa. The suit is the outcome of the case tried before Judge Small of this place and dismissed. Castignesi was arrested for making threats against the life of Mr. Laux, who endeavored to have him put under bonds to keep the peace, but the prosecution failed with the above result.

J. E. Pepps is planting a nursery of gum trees which will be used in converting into a park the Poppe property consisting of six acres, known as the Windman tract, situated south of Napa street and east of Broadway. This improvement is contemplated in the event of the building of the projected broad gauge route to connect Sonoma with San Francisco. Should this tract be converted into a park it can be made one of the finest in the State, as the location is a most beautiful one, with a fine brook running through its center.

P. L. McGill, our efficient road-mender, is receiving praise on all sides for the excellent work he has done on Sonoma Valley roads the past two months. Since the 14th of last March he has graded and put in excellent condition for travel about 12 miles of the worst roads in his district. The Nun's Canyon road, which for scenery, is one of the most delightful drives in the State, will receive his attention next week and be put in a good state of repair. We will venture to predict that in another year Sonoma Valley will have as good roads as can be found anywhere.

Our Special Commissioner.

At a recent meeting of the Trustees of the Mechanics' Institute, Mr. J. H. Drummond, one of Sonoma's most progressive and enterprising agriculturists, was appointed Special Commissioner for Sonoma county. In view of the fact that Sonoma, Glen Ellen and Los Guilucos valleys intend making an independent exhibit at the forthcoming Mechanics' Fair, Mr. Drummond very properly refused the position. The Trustees, recognizing in that gentleman a valuable helper, met again and unanimously appointed him a Special Commissioner for the above localities, than whom none better could have been selected. Mr. Drummond has accepted, and with characteristic zeal is doing everything in his power to bring the sections he represents into prominence in his endeavors to get up an exhibit worthy of its variety of soil, climate and products.

Glen Ellen Notes.

The new dwelling of Mr. Beatty is nearly completed and is quite an ornament to our town.

Mrs. Adeline Sweet of San Francisco in company with the excursion visited Glen Ellen on last Saturday.

A revival of the Band of Holiness is now in progress in the Enterprise school district west of town. Reformations and converts are as numerous as crows in a corn patch.

The happiest man at the present time in Glen Ellen and vicinity is undoubtedly Mr. J. T. Peters, the cause of which being the arrival of a son and heir in the family on last Saturday.

Dr. Sponegle, formerly of San Francisco and lately of Santa Rosa, has rented rooms of Mr. Small and intends locating here. We hope to see the doctor a permanent resident.

A colored barber has opened a shop in the western addition, in the rooms formerly occupied as a meat market. George does good work and the boys all patronize him, including—

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Sheriff Colgan was in town Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Donahue have gone to San Rafael for the summer.

Miss Mamie Burling of San Francisco has been visiting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McP. Hill.

E. I. Barra, the well-known pioneer, who has been engaged in business at the northwest corner of First and Minna streets, San Francisco, since the early fifties, paid this office a pleasant visit last Sunday.

Rev. Father Dunne of Chicago, who has been the officiating clergyman of St. Francis' Church, the past three months, leaves Sonoma next week. During his short stay here he made himself beloved by his entire congregation, who much regret his departure.

Rev. Father Esser, pastor of St. Francis' Church, after several months' absence in the Atlantic States and Europe, returned to Sonoma last Tuesday evening. The Rev. Father was warmly welcomed on his return by a large number of friends who had greatly missed him during his absence.

The ladies of the M. E. Church held one of their very pleasant socials at the home of Mrs. T. Bates on last Friday evening. By 8 o'clock the house was crowded with ladies and gentlemen. After listening to the well-arranged program, refreshments were served, which together with games and other amusements helped to pass away a very enjoyable evening.

Renews Her Youth.

Mrs. Phoebe Chesley, Patterson, Clay Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by the residents of the town: "I am 73 years old, have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not dress myself without help. Now I am free from all pain and soreness, am able to do all my own housework. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth, and removed completely all disease and pain." Try a bottle, only 50c at Wegner's Drug Store.

R. D. Moore of the Occidental keeps a first-class house.

The Mechanics' Exhibit.

Sufficient funds having been subscribed to ensure a successful exhibit at the Mechanics' Fair in September if properly managed, it now behooves those having an interest in the advancement of Sonoma, Glen Ellen and Los Guilucos to do all in their power toward making the exhibit as perfect as possible—one that will be a credit to the above sections. In order to do this in a methodical manner it has been suggested that each of the above localities be represented by sub-committees from each school district. In furtherance of this idea the following names have been carefully selected by a number of our citizens as being in every way suitable to represent their particular sections:

Sonoma District—Robt. Poppe, Dr. L. B. Lawrence and S. H. Shaw.

Flower District—M. K. Cady and H. E. Boyes.

Dunbar District—Hon. J. K. Luttrell and Lawrence Watson.

Harvey District—Thos. D. Morris and G. S. Hooper.

Enterprise District—A. V. La Motte and W. H. Hilton.

St. Louis District—Hon. Robt. Howe and R. L. Watt.

Huichica District—T. S. Glaister and A. J. Haubert.

Watnaugh District—G. P. Sears and T. S. Cooper.

Los Guilucos District—C. Keridge and Arthur McMarty.

Naturally with a view of having the exhibit arranged in perfect order and taste, and as this can only be done by the dainty fingers of our ladies, it is hoped that a number from each of the above districts will volunteer their services to the end that the exhibit may be made as attractive as possible.

Bitter Bread.

Complaint is frequently made by those who use baking powders that they leave in bread, biscuit or cake raised by them a disagreeable, bitter taste. This taste follows the use of all impure baking powders, and is caused either by their containing alum (introduced to make a cheap article), by the impure and adulterated character of other ingredients used, or from the ignorance of their manufacturers of the proper methods of combining them. These baking powders leave in the bread a residuum formed of lime, earth, alum or other deleterious matters, not always, though frequently, tasteable in the food, and by all physicians classed as being injurious to health.

The Royal Baking Powder is free from this serious defect. In its use no residuum is left, and the loaf raised by it is always sweet, light and wholesome, and noticeably free from the peculiar taste complained of. The reason of this is because it is composed of nothing but absolutely pure materials, scientifically combined in exactly the proper proportions of acid and alkali to act upon and destroy each other, while producing the largest amount of rising power. We are justified in this assertion from the unqualified statements made by the Government chemists, who after thorough and exhaustive tests recommended the "Royal" for all Governmental use because of its superiority over all others in purity, strength and wholesomeness. There is no danger of bitter bread or biscuit where it alone is used.

A Pleasant Trip.

A party consisting of Henry Winkle, U. P. Vallejo, Henry Raschen, Henry Lugens, Frank Patton, Chas. H. Freudenstein, F. Ehrlich, William Brown and Granville S. Harris, the latter handling the ribbons over a four-horse team, on Monday last, took a trip through Napa Valley. All points of interest were visited, including Napa and St. Helena. At the latter place the party remained all night and returned home Tuesday afternoon. Ye editor, who was to have been one of the party, greatly regrets that sickness prevented him from taking in the trip.

A Captain's Fortunate Discovery.

Capt. Coleman, sch. Weymouth, plying between Atlantic City and N. Y., had been troubled with a cough so that he was unable to sleep, and was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It not only gave him instant relief, but allayed the extreme soreness in his breast. His children were similarly affected and a single dose had the same happy effect. Dr. King's New Discovery is now the standard remedy in the Coleman household and on board the schooner. Free Trial Bottles of this standard remedy at Wegner's Drug Store.

Mary McPherson of Santa Rosa, who recently disappeared in an unaccountable manner, has turned up blooming in Healdsburg.

Lost.—"I don't know who; I can't tell when, I don't see how; something of great value to me, and for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz: a good appetite."

Found.—"Health and strength, pure blood, an appetite like that of a wolf, regular digestion, all by taking that popular and peculiar medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. I want everybody to try it this season." It is sold by all druggists. One hundred doses one dollar.

The Union Hotel has every convenience for the accommodation of families and others who desire a permanent hotel residence.

AN INCIDENT OF PIONEER DAYS.

Heroic Action of Judge D. O. Shattuck of Sonoma.

How He Saved an Innocent Man From Being Hanged by the Vigilantes.

Ed. INDEX-TRIBUNE: Dear Sir—Reading in your editorial of April 23rd your high encomium of one of Sonoma's honored citizens, Judge D. O. Shattuck, has prompted me to add my testimony as to his integrity, manliness and worth. "Give honor to whom honor is due."

From the year 1850 to 1851 there had been many cruel murders and bold robberies committed in San Francisco. To such an extent had this been the case that the people became alarmed and denounced the supineness of the authorities.

One night in the spring of '51 a bold robber, who had lowered a safe into a boat and was making off with it, was caught in the very act. He was tried, found guilty and hung to the beams of the adobe building on the Plaza before daylight in the morning.

One evening about dusk in the early summer of the same year a man went into the store of C. J. Jansen on Montgomery street and asked for a pair of blankets. Mr. Jansen, being alone at the time, stopped down to take them up from a lower shelf. As he did so the man bent forward and struck him a terrific blow with a slungshot on the back of his head and felled him to the floor. The robber, thinking he had killed him, rifled the safe of over $6000 and fled. When the clerk returned from his supper he discovered Mr. Jansen lying unconscious on the floor behind the counter and at once gave the alarm. It was many hours before Jansen returned to consciousness and when he did he told his story and described the robber, who answered the description of a desperado named Stewart. A few days afterwards a man was arrested in this city who answered the description of the man who had been given of Stewart. On the following Sunday an excited concourse of men gathered around the City Hall which was located in what was known as the "Graham Building" on the northwest corner of Kearny and Pacific streets. The lower floor was on a level with Pacific street, wherein the prison was, while the second floor was on a level with the rising slope of Kearny street, where the Police Court was located. By 2 o'clock p. m. there was an immense gathering of citizens and many of the most prominent ones made speeches denouncing the weakness of the city government and urging their fellow citizens to firm and energetic action to check the lawlessness that prevailed in the city. The Police Court room was taken possession of and a presiding officer was chosen. Twelve men were selected to act as a jury. The first and most absorbing case to be tried was that of Stewart, the robber and would-be murderer. A prosecuting officer was chosen and Judge D. O. Shattuck was solicited and accepted the trust to defend the prisoner. The jury were conducted down into the prison by the prisoner and then the trial commenced.

I secured a seat in the room and remained to the conclusion of that day's proceeding. When all things were ready the witnesses were called. As each witness presented himself, he told what he knew about Stewart and then he was conducted down into the prison to identify the prisoner. Some of them were quite sure that the prisoner was Stewart while others were in doubt about it. Finally a young and beardless man appeared, who said that he knew Stewart well and had worked a mining claim on Foster's Bar in close proximity to a claim worked by Stewart the year previous. He was conducted down into the prison to look upon the prisoner and was gone some ten minutes.

In the meantime speech-making was continued on the outside. In due time the witness returned and most positively and solemnly swore that the prisoner was not Stewart. This declaration displeased the more hot-headed of the assemblage. The jury were again conducted down stairs to hear the prisoner's statement, who said that his name was Berdus, that he had been keeping a butcher shop in Marysville and had recently come down to this city to engage in the same business. When the jury returned to the Court room, Judge Shattuck began to address them in behalf of the prisoner, when the more turbulent ones cried out to hang the prisoner at once.

When Judge Shattuck found that his efforts were constantly interrupted, he indignantly cried out, at the same time waving his hands: "Gentlemen, I wash my hands of this man's blood!" and was about to leave the room, when some of the more moderate ones seized him kindly by the arms and persuaded him to stay. This determined action of Judge Shattuck had the effect of striking the more violent ones with awe. This turned the tide of turbulence into more moderate channels and as night was approaching the crowd began to dis-minish and the Vigilance Court was adjourned.

By the following Wednesday it was proven by ample testimony procured from Marysville, that the prisoner was the person he claimed to be, Berdus, from Marysville, and not Stewart, the robber and would-be murderer.

Thus, under Divine Providence, was Judge D. O. Shattuck instrumental in saving the life of an innocent man, who came so near being hanged on that Sunday, the victim of mistaken identity.

About one year afterwards Stewart was captured in this city and was immediately taken by the Vigilance Committee, conducted to the Market street wharf and there hanged from one of the cranes that were used for hoisting cargoes out of lighters. Thus, proving, in his case, the truth of the adage which says: "The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly fine."

The Effects of Mental Exhaustion.

Many diseases, especially those of the nervous system, are the products of daily renewed mental exhaustion. Business avocations often involve an amount of mental wear and tear very prejudicial to physical health, and the professions, if arduously pursued, are no less destructive to brain and nerve tissue. It is one of the most important attributes of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, that it compensates for this undue loss of tissue, and that it imparts new energy to the brain and nerves. The rapidity with which it renews weakened mental energy and physical vitality is remarkable, and shows that its invigorating properties are of the highest order. Besides increasing vital stamina, and counteracting the effects of mental exhaustion, this potent medicine cures and prevents fever and ague, rheumatism, chronic dyspepsia, and constipation, kidney and uterine weakness and other complaints. Physicians also commend it as a medicated stimulant and remedy.
